DISTINCTION: A victim story is an invitation to create intimacy.

NOTES: As Possibilitators we may be presented with excuses, reasons, justifications, complaints, or other sorts of victim stories rather than results. These communications are easily perceived as invitations for us to be frustrated. A Possibilitator sets their intention to perceive such communications as invitations to relationship. A victim story is an open door to learning more about the other person's world, and a key for unlocking greater clarity and effectiveness in their lives.
