

SPARK ADO

(Matrix Code: SPARKADO.00 for StartOver.xyz game.)

DISTINCTION: Death is the second greatest unsolvable mystery. Because to get it about death, you have to get it about life. And life is an even greater unsolvable mystery. Like a koan. Struggling with or being eaten by either one will put us on the path.

NOTES: My friend Steve is still dead. I remember reading the death prayer for him, and him getting it. I remember saying goodbye to him in an Event. Still there is a gap where he was, our future meetings, our half-finished conversations. And now he is dead, and he died suddenly. E.J. Gold had a t-shirt made once. The front said, "Sudden death is funny". The back said, "So, sudden death is not funny?"

Mostly we are primates. Broken heartedness is the way. I am still struggling with broken heartedness about so many things that, like you said in your letter, I don't know where to begin. So, I guess here I end. For now.
